CHINA DEMANDS REVISION OF TREATIES

REMOVAL OF RIGHTS AND REVISION OF OLD TREATIES

Demand In Note To Diplomats Concerning Rights—Position Will Encourage Agitators, is Belief—Freedom of Convicted Strikers Requested.

The Chinese government in a note to the foreign diplomatic corps demanded revision of old treaties giving special privileges to foreigners in China.

In a second note also sent to the diplomatic corps Wednesday the Chinese Foreign office reiterated its insistence upon the "13 points" advanced by the Chinese delegation at the recent abortive conference at Shanghai and expressed the hope that the new conference to discuss general Chinese questions proposed by the foreign diplomats, may be conducted speedily.

The note insists upon release of Chinese arrested at Shanghai during recent strike troubles and suspension of sentences imposed upon them.

It asks for "an apology" and for "restitution" of the mixed court at Shanghai.

It calls for reinstatement of strikers, improvement of working conditions of Chinese and for Chinese participation in the municipal council at Shanghai, as well as for "liberty of speech and assembly" and for dismissal of the Secretary of the Shanghai municipal council, S. B. Rowe.

The note declares these points are necessary for settlement of the Shanghai incident and as a further basis for permanent peace, says it is absolutely necessary to revise "unequal treaties" by which foreigners enjoy special privileges in China.

The first note from the Chinese government says that it is convinced that the relations of all nations with China can be made more cordial and their rights and interests can be advanced without rather than with enjoyment of "extraordinary privileges and immunities" given to the foreign powers by existing treaties with China.

The note expresses the hope that foreign governments will be convinced that a readjustment of China's treaty relations upon an equitable basis in satisfaction of legitimate aspirations of the Chinese people, who do much to consolidate friendly relations.

It recalls that the existing treaties were concluded long ago under circumstances that did not permit free discussion; that conditions obtaining when these treaties were negotiated do not now exist and that the time has arrived for them to be changed.

The note declares that at the time China entered the World war with the allies she was encouraged to hope for a definite improvement of her international status.

(United Press)

St. Clairsville, June 24—(United Press)—Only five out of eighty girls in the Belmont county farm clubs will make contented wives when it comes to dishwashing, a survey indicated today.

That number like dishwashing. The other 75 don't hesitate to call it drudgery. Miss Hilda Horst, state club leader, compiled the figures.

No more radio loudspeakers will be permitted in action after 11 p. m., the order reads.

New Philadelphia, P., June 24.—(United Press)—Florence Feutz, 17, was nearly burned when her dress caught fire from the explosion of a pre-Fourth of July firecracker.

Cleveland, O., June 24.—(United Press)—Gus Landenheim was near death in a hospital here today after being shot through the neck by a bandit who fired first and stole $10 from Landenheim afterwards.

JUDGE ADKINS GAVE SHEETS TWO KNOCKOUTS

Scioto Township Liquor Law Violator Came to Grief in Probate Court.

Edward Sheets engaged in the manufacture of lightning whisky in Scioto township and who came to grief when he was arrested by a state prohibition officer, had a hearing in probate court. Attorney Jones of Columbus appeared for the prisoner and Prosecuting Attorney Meeker Terwilliger represented the state.

The prisoner entered a plea of guilty to the charge of possession and also having property designed to manufacture whisky. His attorney asked for leniency and related the story of a prize fight. Judge Adkins who is not so much acquainted with the art of fighting sentenced the accused by giving him two knockouts, $250 fine and the costs in each case. In default Sheets is languishing in the county jail.

CONFIDENCE SHOWN IN PUBLIC UTILITIES

Confidence of the public in the value and stability of public utility securities is plainly indicated in the increasing better terms on which utility companies were able to attract new capital last year, says the Ohio Committee on Public Utility Information.

Issue totalling more than a billion dollars, approximately 40 per cent of all corporate financing and a new high record for the public utility industry, were sold at an average yield per issue of 6.14 per cent, and at an average yield per dollar of 6.08 per cent.

An analysis of public utility financing for 1924, just completed by H. E. Dorau, of the Institute for Research in Land Economics and Public Utilities, a department of the University of Wisconsin, shows further that rates were materially lower in the last quarter of the year than in the first nine months. During the last quarter a number of large issues were sold on a basis as low as five per cent, a rate only occasionally touched since 1920, when the yields on public utility securities were notably low.

STATE FOREST PARKS OPEN FOR RECREATION

The state forest and forest park program as outlined by Edmund Seerest, state forester at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, contemplates the acquisition by the State of tracts of virgin woodland of outstanding scenic features as well as non-agricultural forest land.

These park tracts will be developed primarily for the use of the public for recreational purposes. Forestry plantations and arboretums will also be established on these tracts where practical, but the native timber growth and other flora and the rugged geological formations will be preserved in their natural state.

Four such tracts of 1,657 acres in Hocking County have been acquired. They are The Gulf 684 acres, Rock House 171 acres, Conkles Hollow 302 acres, and Crane Valley 500 acres. These rugged wilds are a delight to those who have visited them.

The John Bryan State Park at Yellow Springs is also an attractive resort for those who love the quiet and beauty of the wild, rugged forest. Parts of the State forest tracts will also be available for recreation.

AMERICAN LEGION ENDOWMENT FUND

Boosted By Contribution of Claim Examiners and Reviewers In Office of U. S. Veterans' Bureau.

Washington, D. C., June 24.—

Claim examiners and reviewers employed in the central office of the United States Veterans' Bureau here have contributed as a body to the American Legion endowment fund for disabled veterans and war orphans, it was announced today at local Legion headquarters. From their work of passing upon compensation and rehabilitation claims of veterans in all parts of the country, the Veterans' Bureau employs explained, they realize clearly the great need for the fund.

The contribution was made in the name of the Attorneys' Association of the Veterans' Bureau which is composed largely of lawyers working in the very nerve center from which the government relief for disabled veterans and the dependants of the dead is administered. In presenting the contribution check, W. C. Pickett, president of the association, stated:

"Daily realizing the urgent need for the work which the American Legion has undertaken in its campaign for a $5,000,000 endowment fund, the claims examiners and reviewers of the central office, United States Veterans' Bureau, desire to tender this check as a contribution of their organization to this fund.

"This is not intended to relieve members of the organization from their obligation to this cause but to supplement individual contributions with an expression of our united interest in the success of your efforts."

In contributing to the endowment fund the central office attorneys followed the example of

A System of Farming That Brings Health and Prosperity

Every farm, regardless of the method of farming practiced or of the crops raised, should have at least a few good milk cows to provide

(1) Enough milk, cream and butter for home use;

(2) Enough skim-milk to raise some calves, pigs and chickens;

(3) Enough cream or butter to sell to pay, in part or entirely, current living expenses.

This plan has been a "life-saver" for thousands of farmers, especially during the hard times of the past two years. It insures a living, at least, and often other income besides.

Such a plan pays best with a De Laval Cream Separator. It soon pays for itself—and skims cleaner, lasts longer and is easier to operate and clean than any other.

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting, and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. Mud Important Factor in State of Indiana

Few persons realize the part that mud has had in the story of Indiana. Mud was one of the first necessities of the pioneers and mud it was that held the state back for so many years.

When the first log cabins were built mud was used to stop the cracks between the logs. Mud was used extensively in building the chimneys. Mud, so useful and necessary in construction work, then became the barrier that separated one community from another and held the pioneers at home until sunshine had dried the roads sufficiently for travel. In the early days when plank roads were advocated, figures were given to show what mud was costing the farmers every year.

Indiana has advanced a considerable distance from the mud road days, observes the Indianapolis News, but there remain many hundreds of miles of earth roads, back from the main highways. A county-seat newspaper says that attendance at the rural schools has been decreased because roads are impassable. The motorcar driver who spins along a paved highway gives little thought to the day when a team of horses had difficulty in pulling a wagon through the mud at a rate of one mile an hour. At the edge of the pavement is mud, but all it means to the driver is something to avoid. In some parts of the state there is no way of avoiding it and business is dormant until the roads dry out.

The state is generous with its mud of different types. On the unpaved hills of Brown and Monroe counties the rich, red clay mud is perhaps the hardest of all to travel over—or through. On other sections there is black mud in plenty and its depth is such that the stoutest-hearted automobile gives up in despair.

In northern Indiana there is a thinner mud. The farmer crosses his barn lot, each foot getting heavier with its load of mud as he steps. Eventually the load falls off and a new supply begins to accumulate. Sorrow is his portion if he fails to remove his shoes before he enters the house.

Mud, which at some seasons of the year may be had for the asking, has finally gone into society and some branches of the mud family are getting wealthy. Where one farmer is wondering how to get mud off his boots, a dozen women are saving their money so they can buy enough mud to beautify their faces.

"Good-morning, Missus Primm. I trust I have not chosen an unreasonable moment for my delivery this morning?"

"Not at all, Joseph—not at all. And please don't bother to wipe your shoes; the linoleum is easily scrubbed. Step into the living room and make yourself comfortable for a moment or two—you must be tired after your maternal exertions. Help yourself to my husband's cigars, and there is a late issue of a magazine on the table."

"Thank you—but I must first deposit this ice in the refrigerator. Business before pleasure, you know. To paraphrase a popular expression, 'One must sell ice while the sun shines.'"

"Yes, to be sure. What is a small piece of ice that size worth?"

"I'm charging you 70 cents for it."

"Really, I don't see how you can be so reasonable and yet make a living."

"Frankly, I don't; this is merely a side line. I write movie scenarios for a living. I am something of an altruist, however, and get a great deal of satisfaction from the knowledge that I am doing my little bit to make this old world a cooler place to live in. That is my only reward. I am not mercenary. I—whoa! My horses are restless. I must be off. Good morning."

"Good-morning." — Robert Cyril O'Brien, in Judge.

"Because" is Eve's legacy to her daughters as an excuse for the inexcusable.

THE HESSIAN FLY

In Pickaway County Shows An Increase Over Last Year.

The Hessian fly is present in most wheat fields of Pickaway county and in some fields the fallen straws can be noticed. Inspection made in the county June 18th showed fields to vary in fly infestation from 4 to 34 per cent of the straws. The earlier the field was sowed last fall, the more fly it has in it now. No great damage will occur in the county before harvest as the crop can stand an infestation of 10 per cent of the straw without suffering much. The average infestation for the county as determined June 18th is 18 per cent. This is an increase over last year and is due to the end of the fall brood of flies last year overlapping to a small extent, the county's safe sowing date is October 1.

The earlier the wheat was sown in Pickaway, the less damage it suffered from winter killing. This may induce some farmers to sow early this fall. To do so would be very risky and inviting Hessian fly trouble similar to that of 1919. October 1st will continue to be the safe sowing date to avoid fly damage and the best advice would be to finish sowing as soon as possible after that date. It is the best date to sow to avoid both Hessian fly damage and winter killing in this part of Ohio.

SEES WITCHCRAFT
AS OLD RELIGIONNew Theory Concerning Ancient Superstition.

Science has a brand-new and very interesting theory to explain the belief in witches which at various times in the past, both on this continent and in Europe, has been the source of so much worry to God-fearing Christians, says the Louisville Courier-Journal.

According to this theory witchcraft was a religion which preceded Christianity in western Europe by many centuries and which, after the coming of the new faith, flourished there for a time side by side with it.

In its primitive form the witch deity was incarnate in a man or a woman or an animal. Later on this deity was elected from among the members of the cult.

And did the believer in witchcraft at one time worship the devil, as some of our ancestors thought when they jailed and hanged supposed witches so relentlessly in the Massachusetts town of Salem?

Miss Margaret A. Murray, an English anthropologist, who has been studying the subject of witchcraft for many years, says there is no positive proof that they did so except what is to be found in the testimony of the cult's bitter enemies. The mysterious rites of witchcraft were always celebrated in the strictest secrecy.

Miss Murray thinks that the adherents of this older religion at last may have been driven by the growing strength of Christianity to regard the devil as their god. In those days Christianity's chief strength was among the upper classes and witchcraft's among the lower. This fact intensified the hostility of the adherents of the two religions.

Christianity was unalterably opposed to the barbaric rites of the witches and to their simple conception of the universe. As a result, the witches eventually may have been forced to include in their ritual of initiation a specific denial of the entire Christian faith—God, the immortality of the soul and everything else the followers of Christ hold dear.

Miss Murray suggests that possibly it was the Christians themselves who first fastened the idea of devil worship upon the witches. The chief deity of the witch cult was first worshipped under a variety of names. Since the witches regarded this being as the supreme ruler of the universe, it was only natural for the Christians to term him the devil, Lucifer, Beelzebub, the Foul Fiend, the Enemy of Salvation and the Evil One.

Ugly General Pays Penalty

Philopomen was a Greek general notorious for his ugliness, but also famous for having had it said of him by Plutarch that he was the "last great Greek." He was so ugly that when he arrived in a town making ready for a ceremony in honor of his coming, he was put to work helping to prepare for his own entrance into the city. He looked so common and unsightly to the innkeeper in charge of the program that he was put to work drawing water and building a fire. When his identity was discovered he merely replied that he was paying the penalty for being so ugly.

PIG CLUB LEADERS

Hold First Field Day Ever Held
In Ohio At Home of Russell
Palm.

Friday, June 12th, the Pickaway County Pig Club leaders met at Russell Palm's for the first Pig Club Leaders Field Day ever held in Ohio.

Paul Gerlaugh of the Ohio State University Animal Husbandry Department, was in charge of the meeting.

In the forenoon swine judging was explained and sows and pigs of extreme, medium and old fashioned type were selected to demonstrate types. The treatment of pigs for worms by the capsule method was shown by actually treating with a blank capsule.

The McLean County system of parasite control which Mr. Palm has used on his farm this Spring was explained. A farrowing pen was washed and cleaned with boiling water and lye to demonstrate that round worm eggs are destroyed only by hot water which cooks the egg. The lye was used to cut the dirt from the eggs. Mr. Gerlaugh explained that the sows udder must be washed with warm water before farrowing and that the pigs should be placed on clean pasture where no hogs have been for at least three years. Mr. Palm told of his results from the use of the system. He saved 75 pigs from 85 farrowed. Several of these were killed by sows fighting. He does not have a runt pig this Spring.

In the afternoon the leaders made a hand hurdle while Russell East, Agricultural Agent of the Pennsylvania R. R. demonstrated making a stockman's driving cane.

Mr. East and Mr. Palm demonstrated showing in the judging rings. Gerlaugh then discussed rations and fitting for show.

One leader remarked, "I sure can keep my boys busy now." Several said that the meeting was just what they needed in their Club work.

Perfection in Taste

Perfect taste is the faculty of receiving the greatest possible pleasure from those material sources which are attractive to our moral nature in its purity and perfection.

AMUSEMENTS

Algiers, the French Foreign Legion and as colorful a love story as you've ever see on the screen. That's "Wages of Virtue," Gloria Swanson's newest Paramount picture, an Allan Dwan production which was shown for the first time at the Met theater yesterday.

The story is an adaptation of Percival Wren's novel, with Ben Lyon in the leading man's role opposite the star and Norman Trevor, Ivan Linow, Joe Moore and others in the cast.

To those who remember Gloria of "Manhandled" and the Gloria of "Her Love story" we say here's a role that combines the finest moments of both earlier characterizations. As Carmelita, the star is both the exotic, bizarre Gloria of the Arthur Stringer story and the motherly Gloria of Mrs. Reehart's romance.

Hers is the role of a young Neapolitan girl of the slums who becomes the pride of the Foreign Legion a little mother to 'men without a country' Ben Lyon is a recruit in the Legion, a young American with whom Carmelita falls in love. Trevor plays John Boule veteran of the internationally famous French regiment and Joe Moore has the role of a New York gangster also in the ranks of the Legion. Linow has a "heavy" role as Luigi, ex-strong man for a side show and now the regimental bully. It is about these characters that the story revolves.

Forrest Halsey wrote the screen play Armand Cortez Ardienne d'Ambricourt and Paul Panzer are included in important supporting roles.

"Wages of Virtue" is Gloria all thru.

Having Their Fling

It was last year in a strict boarding school, and my roommate and I had always been on our good behavior, writes a correspondent of the Chicago Tribune. We realized we had missed a lot of the fun the other girls had enjoyed, even though they had paid for it by being up before the faculty many times.

One night we decided we'd be daring and slip down, after midnight, to the rarely occupied guest room and sleep in the four-poster bed in there. The corridors were dark and the stairs creaked, but we tiptoed along until we had almost reached the guest room. Just then we heard the watchman coming down the corridor. We popped into the guest room and onto the bed.

A series of screams aroused every one. We had sat upon a visiting missionary from Africa.

A Surprise

Amateur theatrical stuff had been indulged in by certain members of the group out for a day's outing. One of these stunts included the placing of black wax on one or two of the front teeth, which left an appearance of toothlessness.

One young man, tiring of the wax, tried to remove it and found he could not. He asked a young woman of the party whether she knew how to get the wax off.

"Sure," she said, boldly. "That's easy." And forthwith she grasped the wax firmly between thumb and forefinger and pulled.

Imagine her amazement a moment later when she held in her hand the full upper set of false teeth belonging to the young man.—Indianapolis News.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. D. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean of the Evening School, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(©, 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for June 28

REVIEW

GOLDEN TEXT—Ye shall be witnesses unto me, both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth.—Acts 1:8.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Boy Jesus at the Temple School.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Asking and Answering Questions.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Growth of the Early Church.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How the Gospel Spread.

As usual, the methods employed in the review largely depend upon the teacher and the class. Two methods are suggested:

First: The biographical. This is a method which can nearly always be used to advantage, since pupils of all ages are interested in the study of persons. Peter, Paul, Stephen, Philip and Barnabas are very prominent characters in the quarter's lessons. These may be assigned to members of the class the week before with a view of a brief biographical sketch being prepared and read to the class.

Second: The summary method. This method calls for the review of the principal facts of each lesson with statement of the leading teachings thereof. The following is suggested:

Lesson I.—On the Day of Pentecost, the risen and ascended Christ sent the promise of the Father causing the Holy Ghost to descend upon the disciples to qualify them to be witnesses of His death and resurrection to all the world.

Lesson II.—The healing of the lame man shows that the risen Christ is able to make strong a man who was born a cripple. The man who was healed thoroughly advertised the miracle. Those who have experienced the life of God cannot help but make it known.

Lesson III.—The church is God's dwelling place. Since it is His dwelling place it is as holy as the holy place in the sanctuary. The judgment which befell Ananias and Sapphira proves that God will not allow the hypocrite to escape His judgment.

Lesson IV.—The behavior of Stephen proves that the risen Christ is able to sustain His witnesses, even while they are sealing their testimony with their blood. His standing shows His active interest in His disciples, and that He welcomes home to heaven those who are faithful.

Lesson V.—The experiences of Daniel and his companions show that total abstinence pays.

Lesson VI.—Phillip, the only man in the New Testament called evangelist, is in the energy of the Spirit preaching the Word and winning men to Christ.

Lesson VII.—The conversion of Saul, the bitter enemy of Christ, is an illustrious example of what the revelation of Christ in His glory can do, and also illustrates the method of the conversion of Israel.

Lesson VIII.—After Saul's conversion, he straightway preached Christ as the Son of God. Those who are really saved know whom they have believed.

Lesson IX.—The stupendous miracle wrought by the risen Christ at the hands of Peter proved that the gospel lost none of its power by being preached abroad.

Lesson X.—When Christ would break down the middle wall of partition between the Jews and Gentiles. He gave to Cornelius and Peter each a vision. When the gospel was offered to the Gentiles, the Holy Ghost came upon them as at Pentecost.

Lesson XI.—Before the foreign missionary enterprise was launched, a new center of operation was established at Antioch. The Holy Spirit established this strategic center and sent out the missionaries.

Lesson XII.—The risen Christ hears the prayers of the church and sends His angels to deliver His faithful servants.

The Best Judges Us

Our attitude concerning the great value, the great reality, the great personality, is not to put pressure upon our own minds or upon the minds of others to believe in them; and not primarily either with ourselves or others to defend them or to argue for them, but simply to give them opportunity with us, and to do what we may to help others, too, to give that opportunity. The best, thus, judges us rather than we it.—Henry Churchill King.

Better Than Guilt

Better it were, that all the miseries which nature owns were ours at once, than guilt.—Shakespeare.

Let Us Not Lose Faith

Earl Balfour said not long ago: "Let us not fear that the future is going to be less glorious than the past. Problems of which we never dreamed multiply upon us until we are almost overwhelmed. But let us not lose faith or courage."

For Truth's Sake

To love truth for truth's sake is the principal part of human perfection in this world and the seed-plot of all other virtues.—John Locke.

What Do You Know About
Sole Leather?

HERE ARE A FEW LEATHER FACTS:

The best leather is tanned Steer Hide.
Steers are raised for their meat—not for their hides.
There is as great a difference in the quality of leather as in the quality of meat.
Good leather always comes from over good meat, and vice versa.
Heavy hides are taken from cattle four years or older.
Most thick leather nowadays is artificially swelled by acid—often sulphuric acid, which rots the fiber, rots the stitching and destroys the wear. The breeding up of cattle by dairymen and the younger kill to supply tender meat, produce the best hide and the best leather, of medium thickness.
Country hides are badly cut in the skinning and are of little value for soles leather.
Most newspaper quotations are on country hides.
Packer Hides are rarely flesh-cut in skinning and, therefore, bring several times the price of country hides.
Hides are always heavily salted to preserve, and are sold salt and all.
The average weight of a green-salted, steer hide is 60 lbs.
To properly tan, it must remain in the tanning liquors from six to nine months.
A 60 lb. green salted hide will lose 20 lbs. or 1/3 its green weight in a good, natural, non-acid tannage.
A tanned hide will give four distinct qualities of leather.

World's Largest Tree

Forest fires threatening the redwoods and sequoias in northern California are a menace that may destroy the oldest and largest growths in the world. It is claimed by scientists that the General Sherman tree, in Sequoia park, is the largest living thing, towering 279.9 feet above the earth, and boasting a diameter of 36.5 feet. Two other trees are taller, but none so broad. In the 3,200 acres comprising Sequoia National park, there are 5,000 trees that have diameter in excess of ten feet.

Vast Army Employed in Building Pyramid

In spite of modern skyscrapers, fortresses and other structures, the great pyramid of Egypt still stands in a class by itself. It was erected more than 5,000 years ago, and nothing more mechanically perfect has ever been built. In massiveness of construction it far exceeds anything that any other nation, ancient or modern, has ever attempted. Its original height was just over 480 feet, and the length of each side at the base 764 feet. Its cubical contents exceeded 800,000,000 cubic feet, and the weight of its mass 6,840,000 tons. Its original cubical contents would have built a city of 22,000 houses, with walls a foot thick, each possessing 20 feet of frontage. Or if the contents of this vast structure were laid down in a line a foot in breadth and depth, the line would be nearly 17,000 miles in length. Herodotus tells us that 100,000 men were engaged in its construction for a space of 20 years, and modern scholars do not think this estimate an exaggerated one.

Tris Speaker Runs His Hits to 3,000

Tris Speaker, manager of the Cleveland Indians, is a member of the 3,000-hit circle. He gained the distinction, achieved by only five other major league players, at a recent St. Louis game, when he singled in the ninth inning.

Speaker made his hits in 8,623 times at bat, an average of 348 in 2,341 games. They included 648 doubles, 204 triples and 91 home runs, for 4,336 bases. He needs only six more doubles to beat the record of 651 held by Nap Lajoie.

Others who have gathered 3,000 hits are Ty Cobb, Lajoie, Anson, Hans Wagner and Sam Crawford.

Big Job for Paschal

Benny Paschal was the regular center fielder for the New York Yankees with "Babe Ruth" out of the game. Benny, as he is known, had a difficult job to live up to the ability of the "Battering Babe," but the fans seem to like his play.

KICKED SELF INTO BIG LEAGUE BERTH

Jimmy Poole, Recalcitrant First Baseman, Lands With Athletics.

It isn't often that a minor league holdout who has brought down the scorn of his club, on whom the books have been closed so far as his salary demands are considered, is rewarded with a promotion. More often such a player is placed on the suspended list and then is required to make his peace at the figure quoted by the club.

But Jimmy Poole, recalcitrant first baseman of the Portland club of the Pacific Coast league, goes down as the 1925 exception. Jimmy, on the eve of being placed on the suspended list, became a member of the Philadelphia Athletics, taking the place of Joe Hauser, hard-hitting first baseman of the Macks, who suffered a broken kneecap.

What is more, Poole is a mighty valuable addition to the Philadelphia team. He can hit—yes, lustily—can throw, and his record with Portland just about rates him as one of the best picks-ups Mack could have made at this time of dire emergency. With Portland last season Poole hit .353 in 182 games and led that strong class AA organization in home runs with 38. He also smacked seven triples and 47 doubles, rather a nifty conglomerate of extra base drives to say the least. As a fielder he turned in an average of .983.

Poole was born May 12, 1885, and was first heard of with Newman in 1914. Then there came a stretch that he was out of O. B. and in 1917 he was awarded to Charleston. In 1918 he bobbed up with Richmond and that club sold him to San Antonio in 1920. The Chicago Sox gave him a whirl as it that fall and turned him over to Salt Lake in 1921. He was recalled and placed with Richmond and later in 1921 sold to Portland, where he remained until this spring when he kicked on his contract. It was also asserted that he didn't want to play in the West, preferring the East.

Most Championships Won by Teams From the East

When it comes to winning pennants, the eastern major league cities have a decided advantage over their distant neighbors on the western swings of the two circuits.

In the National league, Boston has won 13 flags and New York has won 12. Chicago has taken 11, Brooklyn 5, Pittsburgh 4, Philadelphia 2, and Cincinnati 1. St. Louis has yet to place in the pennant column.

The old Baltimore club won three times, while Providence landed in the first place twice and Detroit once. But those championships hark back so far that most fans have forgotten them.

Honors in the American league are more evenly divided. Philadelphia and Boston lead with six flags each; Chicago is third with five; Detroit and New York have taken three each, and Washington and Cleveland have finished first once.

CHINA DEMANDS REVISION OF TREATIES

REMOVAL OF RIGHTS AND REVISION OF OLD TREATIES

Demanded In Note To Diplomats Concerning Rights—Position Will Encourage Agitators, is Belief—Freedom of Convicted Strikers Requested.

The Chinese government in a note to the foreign diplomatic corps demanded revision of old treaties giving special privileges to foreigners in China.

In a second note also sent to the diplomatic corps Wednesday the Chinese Foreign office reiterated its insistence upon the "13 points" advanced by the Chinese delegation at the recent abortive conference at Shanghai and expressed the hope that the new conference to discuss general Chinese questions proposed by the foreign diplomats, may be conducted speedily.

The note insists upon release of Chinese arrested at Shanghai during recent strike troubles and suspension of sentences imposed upon them. It asks for "an apology" and for "rendition" of the mixed court at Shanghai.

It calls for reinstatement of strikers, improvement of working conditions of Chinese and for Chinese participation in the municipal council at Shanghai, as well as for "liberty of speech and assembly" and for dismissal of the Secretary of the Shanghai municipal council, S. B. Rowe.

The note declares these points are necessary for settlement of the Shanghai incident and as a further basis for permanent peace, says it is absolutely necessary to revise "unequal treaties" by which foreigners enjoy special privileges in China.

The first note from the Chinese government says that it is convinced that the relations of all nations with China can be made more cordial and their rights and interests can be advanced without rather than with enjoyment of "extraordinary privileges and immunities" given to the foreign powers by existing treaties with China.

The note expresses the hope that foreign governments will be convinced that a readjustment of China's treaty relations upon an equitable basis in satisfaction of legitimate aspirations of the Chinese people, who do much to consolidate friendly relations.

It recalls that the existing treaties were concluded long ago under circumstances that did not permit free discussion; that conditions obtaining when these treaties were negotiated do not now exist and that the time has arrived for them to be changed.

The note declares that at the time China entered the World war with the allies she was encouraged to hope for a definite improvement of her international status.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From the Wires by Correspondents of the United States Press Association.

(United Press)

St. Clairsville, June 24.—(United Press)—Only five out of eighty girls in the Belmont county farm clubs will make contented wives when it comes to dishwashing, a survey indicated today.

That number like dishwashing. The other 75 don't hesitate to call it drugery. Miss Hugda Horst, state club leader, compiled the figures.

Elyria, Ohio, June 24.—(United Press)—Police here have extended the "blue law" aspects of the city's curfew to include radio fans.

No more radio loudspeakers will be permitted in action after 11 p. m., the order reads.

New Philadelphia, P., June 24.—(United Press)—Florence Feutz, 17, was nearly burned when her dress caught fire from the explosion of a pre-Fourth of July firecracker.

Cleveland, O., June 24.—(United Press)—Gus Landenheim was near death in a hospital here today after being shot through the neck by a bandit who fired first and stole $10 from Landenheim afterwards.

Sandusky, O., June (U.P.)—The crew leaped overboard and swam to safety when the tug Custodian burned to the water's edge in Lake Erie five miles off Sisters Island early today.

The flames started in the engine room and swept rapidly through the craft. The crew swam to the barge Maitland which the Custodian was towing.

Miss Gladys Howard spent the day with her cousin, Mrs. Paul Drum in Lancaster.

JUDGE ADKINS GAVE SHEETS TWO KNOCKOUTS

Scioto Township Liquor Law Violator Came to Grief in Probate Court.

Edward Sheets engaged in the manufacture of lightning whisky in Scioto township and who came to grief when he was arrested by a state prohibition officer, had a hearing in probate court. Attorney Jones of Columbus appeared for the prisoner and Prosecuting Attorney Meeker Terwilliger represented the state.

The prisoner entered a plea of guilty to the charge of possession and also having property designed to manufacture whisky. His attorney asked for leniency and related the story of a prize fight. Judge Adkins who is not so much acquainted with the art of fighting sentenced the accused by giving him two knockouts, $250 fine and the costs in each case. In default Sheets is languishing in the county jail.

CONFIDENCE SHOWN IN PUBLIC UTILITIES

Confidence of the public in the value and stability of public utility securities is plainly indicated in the increasing better terms on which utility companies were able to attract new capital last year, says the Ohio Committee on Public Utility Information.

Issue totalling more than a billion dollars, approximately 40 per cent of all corporate financing and a new high record for the public utility industry, were sold at an average yield per issue of 6.14 per cent, and at an average yield per dollar of 6.03 per cent.

An analysis of public utility financing for 1924, just completed by H. E. Dorau, of the Institute for Research in Land Economics and Public Utilities, a department of the University of Wisconsin, shows further that rates were materially lower in the last quarter of the year than in the first nine months. During the last quarter a number of large issues were sold on a basis as low as five per cent, a rate only occasionally touched since 1920, when the yields on public utility securities were notably low.

STATE FOREST PARKS OPEN FOR RECREATION

The state forest and forest park program as outlined by Edmund Secrest, state forester at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, contemplates the acquisition by the State of tracts of virgin woodland of outstanding scenic features as well as non-agricultural forest land.

These park tracts will be developed primarily for the use of the public for recreational purposes. Forestry plantations and arboretums will also be established on these tracts where practical, but the native timber growth and other flora and the rugged geological formations will be preserved in their natural state.

Four such tracts of 1,657 acres in Hocking County have been acquired. They are The Gulf 684 acres, Rock House 171 acres, Conkles Hollow 302 acres, and Crane Valley 500 acres. These rugged wilds are a delight to those who have visited them.

The John Bryan State Park at Yellow Springs is also an attractive resort for those who love the quiet and beauty of the wild, rugged forest. Parts of the State forest tracts will also be available for recreation.

AMERICAN LEGION ENDOWMENT FUND

Boosted By Contribution of Claim Examiners and Reviewers In Office of U. S. Veterans' Bureau.

Washington, D. C., June 24.—Claim examiners and reviewers employed in the central office of the United States Veterans' Bureau here have contributed as a body to the American Legion endowment fund for disabled veterans and war orphans, it was announced today at local Legion headquarters. From their work of passing upon compensation and rehabilitation claims of veterans in all parts of the country, the Veterans' Bureau employs explained, they realize clearly the great need for the fund.

The contribution was made in the name of the Attorneys' Association of the Veterans' Bureau which is composed largely of lawyers working in the very nerve center from which the government relief for disabled veterans and the dependants of the dead is administered. In presenting the contribution check, W. C. Pickett, president of the association, stated:

"Daily realizing the urgent need for the work which the American Legion has undertaken in its campaign for a $5,000,000 endowment fund, the claims examiners and reviewers of the central office, United States Veterans' Bureau, desire to tender this check as a contribution of their organization to this fund.

"This is not intended to relieve members of the organization from their obligation to this cause but to supplement individual contributions with an expression of our united interest in the success of your efforts."

In contributing to the endowment fund the central office attorneys followed the example of the employees of a number of the district offices of the Veterans' Bureau. Their action was also in line with the endorsement of the fund by General Frank T. Hines, director of the bureau.

Peking's Trolley Line

The first trolley line in China's capital was recently opened with great formality, and with the drinking of tea. After an address by the chairman of the French board of directors and Chinese officials the eight gaudily decorated cars started on an inspection trip over the new road, which is limited to the western part of the city. Other tracks are being laid. Opposition of the rickshaw men was overcome with the promise to build factories in which they would be employed when thrown out of work by the street cars.

A System of Farming That Brings Health and Prosperity

Every farm, regardless of the method of farming practiced or of the crops raised, should have at least a few good milk cows to provide

- (1) Enough milk, cream and butter for home use;
- (2) Enough skim-milk to raise some calves, pigs and chickens;
- (3) Enough cream or butter to sell to pay, in part or entirely, current living expenses.

This plan has been a "life-saver" for thousands of farmers, especially during the hard times of the past two years. It insures a living, at least, and often other income besides.

Such a plan pays best with a De Laval Cream Separator. It soon pays for itself—and skims cleaner, lasts longer and is easier to operate and clean than any other.

Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. Mud Important Factor in State of Indiana

Few persons realize the part that mud has had in the story of Indiana. Mud was one of the first necessities of the pioneers and mud it was that held the state back for so many years. When the first log cabins were built mud was used to stop the cracks between the logs. Mud was used extensively in building the chimneys. Mud, so useful and necessary in construction work, then became the barrier that separated one community from another and held the pioneers at home until sunshine had dried the roads sufficiently for travel. In the early days when plank roads were advocated, figures were given to show what mud was costing the farmers every year.

Indiana has advanced a considerable distance from the mud road days, observes the Indianapolis News, but there remain many hundreds of miles of earth roads, back from the main highways. A county-seat newspaper says that attendance at the rural schools has been decreased because roads are impassable. The motorcar driver who spins along a paved highway gives little thought to the day when a team of horses had difficulty in pulling a wagon through the mud at a rate of one mile an hour. At the edge of the pavement is mud, but all it means to the driver is something to avoid. In some parts of the state there is no way of avoiding it and business is dormant until the roads dry out.

The state is generous with its mud of different types. On the unpaved hills of Brown and Monroe counties the rich, red clay mud is perhaps the hardest of all to travel over—or through. On other sections there is black mud in plenty and its depth is such that the stoutest-hearted automobile gives up in despair.

In northern Indiana there is a thinner mud. The farmer crosses his barn lot, each foot getting heavier with its load of mud as he steps. Eventually the load falls off and a new supply begins to accumulate. Sorrow is his portion if he fails to remove his shoes before he enters the house.

Mud, which at some seasons of the year may be had for the asking, has finally gone into society and some branches of the mud family are getting wealthy. Where one farmer is wondering how to get mud off his boots, a dozen women are saving their money so they can buy enough mud to beautify their faces.

"Good-morning, Missus Primm. I trust I have not chosen an unseasonable moment for my delivery this morning?"
"Not at all, Joseph—not at all. And please don't bother to wipe your shoes; the linoleum is easily scrubbed. Step into the living room and make yourself comfortable for a moment or two—you must be tired after your maternal exertions. Help yourself to my husband's cigars, and there is a late issue of a magazine on the table."
"Thank you—but I must first deposit this ice in the refrigerator. Business before pleasure, you know. To paraphrase a popular expression, 'One must sell ice while the sun shines.'"
"Yes, to be sure. What is a small piece of ice that size worth?"
"I'm charging you 70 cents for it."
"Really, I don't see how you can be so reasonable and yet make a living."
"Frankly, I don't; this is merely a side line. I write movie scenarios for a living. I am something of an altruist, however, and get a great deal of satisfaction from the knowledge that I am doing my little bit to make this old world a cooler place to live in. That is my only reward. I am not mercenary. I—whoa! My horses are restless. I must be off. Good morning."

THE HESSIAN FLY

In Pickaway County Shows An Increase Over Last Year.

The Hessian fly is present in most wheat fields of Pickaway county and in some fields the fall-sown straws can be noticed. Inspection made in the county June 18th showed fields to vary in fly infestation from 4 to 34 per cent of the straws. The earlier the field was sowed last fall, the more fly it has in it now. No great damage will occur in the county before harvest as the crop can stand an infestation of 10 per cent of the straw without suffering much. The average infestation for the county as determined June 18th is 18 per cent. This is an increase over last year and is due to the end of the fall brood of flies last year overlapping to a small extent, the county's safe sowing date is October 1.

The earlier the wheat was sown in Pickaway, the less damage it suffered from winter killing. This may induce some farmers to sow early this fall. To do so would be very risky and inviting Hessian fly trouble similar to that of 1919. October 1st will continue to be the safe sowing date to avoid fly damage and the best advice would be to finish sowing as soon as possible after that date. It is the best date to sow to avoid both Hessian fly damage and winter killing in this part of Ohio.

SEES WITCHCRAFT AS OLD RELIGION

New Theory Concerning Ancient Superstition.

Science has a brand-new and very interesting theory to explain the belief in witches which at various times in the past, both on this continent and in Europe, has been the source of so much worry to God-fearing Christians, says the Louisville Courier-Journal.

According to this theory witchcraft was a religion which preceded Christianity in western Europe by many centuries and which, after the coming of the new faith, flourished there for a time side by side with it.

In its primitive form the witch deity was incarnate in a man or a woman or an animal. Later on this deity was elected from among the members of the cult.

And did the believer in witchcraft at one time worship the devil, as some of our ancestors thought when they jailed and hanged supposed witches so relentlessly in the Massachusetts town of Salem?

Miss Margaret A. Murray, an English anthropologist, who has been studying the subject of witchcraft for many years, says there is no positive proof that they did so except what is to be found in the testimony of the cult's bitter enemies. The mysterious rites of witchcraft were always celebrated in the strictest secrecy.

Miss Murray thinks that the adherents of this older religion at last may have been driven by the growing strength of Christianity to regard the devil as their god. In those days Christianity's chief strength was among the upper classes and witchcraft's among the lower. This fact intensified the hostility of the adherents of the two religions.

Christianity was unalterably opposed to the barbaric rites of the witches and to their simple conception of the universe. As a result, the witches eventually may have been forced to include in their ritual of initiation a specific denial of the entire Christian faith—God, the immortality of the soul and everything else the followers of Christ hold dear.

Miss Murray suggests that possibly it was the Christians themselves who first fastened the idea of devil worship upon the witches. The chief deity of the witch cult was first worshiped under a variety of names. Since the witches regarded this being as the supreme ruler of the universe, it was only natural for the Christians to term him the devil, Lucifer, Beelzebub, the Foul Fiend, the Enemy of Salvation and the Evil One.

Ugly General Pays Penalty

Philopomen was a Greek general notorious for his ugliness, but also famous for having had it said of him by Plutarch that he was the "last great Greek." He was so ugly that when he arrived in a town making ready for a ceremony in honor of his coming, he was put to work helping to prepare for his own entrance into the city. He looked so common and unsightly to the innkeeper in charge of the program that he was put to work drawing water and building a fire. When his identity was discovered he merely replied that he was paying the penalty for being so ugly.

PIG CLUB LEADERS

Hold First Field Day Ever Held In Ohio At Home of Russell Palm.

Friday, June 12th, the Pickaway County Pig Club leaders met at Russell Palm's for the first Pig Club Leaders Field Day ever held in Ohio.

Paul Gerlaugh of the Ohio State University Animal Husbandry Department, was in charge of the meeting.

In the forenoon swine judging was explained and sows and pigs of extreme, medium and old fashioned type were selected to demonstrate types. The treatment of pigs for worms by the capsule method was shown by actually treating with a blank capsule.

The McLean County system of parasite control which Mr. Palm has used on his farm this Spring was explained. A farrowing pen was washed and cleaned with boiling water and lye to demonstrate that round worm eggs are destroyed only by hot water which cooks the egg. The lye was used to cut the dirt from the eggs. Mr. Gerlaugh explained that the sows udder must be washed with warm water before farrowing and that the pigs should be placed on clean pasture where no hogs have been for at least three years. Mr. Palm told of his results from the use of the system. He saved 75 pigs from 85 farrowed. Several of these were killed by sows fighting. He does not have a runt pig this Spring.

In the afternoon the leaders made a hand hurdle while Russell East, Agricultural Agent of the Pennsylvania R. R. demonstrated making a stockman's driving cane.

Mr. East and Mr. Palm demonstrated showing in the judging rings. Gerlaugh then discussed rations and fitting for show.

One leader remarked, "I sure can keep my boys busy now." Several said that the meeting was just what they needed in their Club work.

Perfection in Taste

Perfect taste is the faculty of receiving the greatest possible pleasure from those material sources which are attractive to our moral nature in its purity and perfection.

AMUSEMENTS

Algiers, the French Foreign Legion and as colorful a love story as you've ever see on the screen. That's "Wages of Virtue," Gloria Swanson's newest Paramount picture, an Allan Dwan production which was shown for the first time at the Met theater yesterday.

The story is an adaptation of Percival Wren's novel, with Ben Lyon in the leading man's role opposite the star and Norman Trevor, Ivan Linow, Joe Moore and others in the cast.

To those who remember Gloria of "Manhandled" and the Gloria of "Her Love Story" we say here's a role that combines the finest moments of both earlier characterizations. As Carmelita, the star is both the exotic, bizarre Gloria of the Arthur Stringer story and the motherly Gloria of Mrs. Ripehart's romance.

Hers is the role of a young Neapolitan girl of the slums who becomes the pride of the Foreign Legion a little mother to 'men without a country' Ben Lyon is a recruit in the Legion, a young American with whom Carmelita falls in love. Trevor plays John Boule veteran of the internationally famous French regiment and Joe Moore also in the ranks of the Legion. Linow has a "heavy" role as Luigi, ex-strong man for a side show and now the regimental bully. It is about these characters that the story revolves.

Forrest Halsey wrote the screen play Armand Cortez Ardienne d'Ambricourt and Paul Panzer are included in important supporting roles.

"Wages of Virtue" is Gloria all thru.

Having Their Fling

It was last year in a strict boarding school, and my roommate and I had always been on our good behavior, writes a correspondent of the Chicago Tribune. We realized we had missed a lot of the fun the other girls had enjoyed, even though they had paid for it by being up before the faculty many times.

One night we decided we'd be daring and slip down, after midnight, to the rarely occupied guest room and sleep in the four-poster bed in there. The corridors were dark and the stairs creaked, but we tiptoed along until we had almost reached the guest room. Just then we heard the watchman coming down the corridor. We popped into the guest room and onto the bed.

A series of screams aroused every one. We had run upon a visiting missionary from Africa.

A Surprise

Amateur theatrical stuff had been indulged in by certain members of the group out for a day's outing. One of these stunts included the placing of black wax on one or two of the front teeth, which left an appearance of toothlessness.

One young man, tiring of the wax, tried to remove it and found he could not. He asked a young woman of the party whether she knew how to get the wax off.

"Sure," she said, boldly. "That's easy." And forthwith she grasped the wax firmly between thumb and forefinger and pulled.

Imagine her amazement a moment later when she held in her hand the full upper set of false teeth belonging to the young man.—Indianapolis News.

Sunday School Lesson

Lesson for June 28

REVIEW

GOLDEN TEXT—Ye shall be witnesses unto me, both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth.—Acts 1:8.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Boy Jesus at the Temple School.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Asking and Answering Questions.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Growth of the Early Church.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How the Gospel Spread.

As usual, the methods employed in the review largely depend upon the teacher and the class. Two methods are suggested:

First: The biographical. This is a method which can nearly always be used to advantage, since pupils of all ages are interested in the study of persons. Peter, Paul, Stephen, Philip and Barnabas are very prominent characters in the quarter's lessons. These may be assigned to members of the class the week before with a view of a brief biographical sketch being prepared and read to the class.

Second: The summary method. This method calls for the review of the principal facts of each lesson with statement of the leading teachings thereof. The following is suggested:

Lesson I.—On the Day of Pentecost, the risen and ascended Christ sent the promise of the Father causing the Holy Ghost to descend upon the disciples to qualify them to be witnesses of His death and resurrection to all the world.

Lesson II.—The healing of the lame man shows that the risen Christ is able to make strong a man who was born a cripple. The man who was healed thoroughly advertised the miracle. Those who have experienced the life of God cannot help but make it known.

Lesson III.—The church is God's dwelling place. Since it is His dwelling place it is as holy as the holy place in the sanctuary. The judgment which befell Ananias and Sapphira proves that God will not allow the hypocrite to escape His judgment.

Lesson IV.—The behavior of Stephen proves that the risen Christ is able to sustain His witnesses, even while they are sealing their testimony with their blood. His standing shows His active interest in His disciples, and that He welcomes home to heaven those who are faithful.

Lesson V.—The experiences of Daniel and his companions show that total abstinence pays.

Lesson VI.—Philip, the only man in the New Testament called evangelist, is in the energy of the Spirit preaching the Word and winning men to Christ.

Lesson VII.—The conversion of Saul, the bitter enemy of Christ, is an illustrious example of what the revelation of Christ in His glory can do, and also illustrates the method of the conversion of Israel.

Lesson VIII.—After Saul's conversion, he straightway preached Christ as the Son of God. Those who are really saved know whom they have believed.

Lesson IX.—The stupendous miracle wrought by the risen Christ at the hands of Peter proved that the gospel lost none of its power by being preached abroad.

Lesson X.—When Christ would break down the middle wall of partition between the Jews and Gentiles, He gave to Cornelius and Peter each a vision. When the gospel was offered to the Gentiles, the Holy Ghost came upon them as at Pentecost.

Lesson XI.—Before the foreign missionary enterprise was launched, a new center of operation was established at Antioch. The Holy Spirit established this strategic center and sent out the missionaries.

Lesson XII.—The risen Christ hears the prayers of the church and sends His angels to deliver His faithful servants.

The Best Judges Us

Our attitude concerning the great value, the great reality, the great personality, is not to put pressure upon our own minds or upon the minds of others to believe in them; and not primarily either with ourselves or others to defend them or to argue for them, but simply to give them opportunity with us, and to do what we may to help others, too, to give that opportunity. The best, thus, judges us rather than we it.—Henry Churchill King.

Better Than Guilt

Better it were, that all the miseries which nature owns were ours at once, than guilt.—Shakespeare.

Let Us Not Lose Faith

Earl Balfour said not long ago: "Let us not fear that the future is going to be less glorious than the past. Problems of which we never dreamed multiply upon us until we are almost overwhelmed. But let us not lose faith or courage."

For Truth's Sake

To love truth for truth's sake is the principal part of human perfection in this world and the seed-plot of all other virtues.—John Locke.

Beating Time

A New York newspaper placed a loud speaker alongside a linotype machine in its composing room during the world series games. The compositor cast the type describing the plays as they came to him over the radio. In this manner the newspaper beat its contemporaries on the street by several minutes with a complete detailed description of each of the games.—Collier's.

Baby's Power to Cling

What Do You Know About

Sole Leather?

HERE ARE A FEW LEATHER FACTS:

The best leather is tanned Steer Hide.
Steers are raised for their meat—not for their hides.
There is as great a difference in the quality of leather as in the quality of meat.
Good leather always comes from over good meat, and vice versa.
Heavy hides are taken from cattle four years or older.
Most thick leather nowadays is artificially swelled by acid—often sulphuric acid, which rots the fiber, rots the stitching and destroys the wear. The breeding up of cattle by dairymen and the younger kill to supply tender meat, produce the best hide and the best leather, of medium thickness.
Country hides are badly cut in the skinning and are of little value for soiling leather.
Most newspaper quotations are on country hides.
Packer Hides are rarely flesh-cut in skinning and, therefore, bring several times the price of country hides.
Hides are always heavily salted to preserve, and are sold salt and all.
The average weight of a green-salted, steer hide is 60 lbs.
To properly tan, it must remain in the tanning liquors from six to nine months.
A 60 lb. green salted hide will lose 20 lbs. or 1/3 its green weight in a good, natural, non-acid tannage.
A tanned hide will give four distinct qualities of leather.

World's Largest Tree

Forest fires threatening the redwoods and sequoias in northern California are a menace that may destroy the oldest and largest growths in the world. It is claimed by scientists that the General Sherman tree, in Sequoia park, is the largest living thing, towering 279.9 feet above the earth, and boasting a diameter of 36.5 feet. Two other trees are taller, but none so broad. In the 3,200 acres comprising Sequoia National park, there are 5,000 trees that have diameter in excess of ten feet.

Vast Army Employed in Building Pyramid

In spite of modern skyscrapers, fortresses and other structures, the great pyramid of Egypt still stands in a class by itself. It was erected more than 5,000 years ago, and nothing more mechanically perfect has ever been built. In massiveness of construction it far exceeds anything that any other nation, ancient or modern, has ever attempted. Its original height was just over 480 feet, and the length of each side at the base 764 feet. Its cubical contents exceeded 809,000,000 cubic feet, and the weight of its mass 6,840,000 tons. Its original cubical contents would have built a city of 22,000 houses, with walls a foot thick, each possessing 20 feet of frontage. Or if the contents of this vast structure were laid down in a line a foot in breadth and depth, the line would be nearly 17,000 miles in length. Herodotus tells us that 100,000 men were engaged in its construction for a space of 20 years, and modern scholars do not think this estimate an exaggerated one.

Tris Speaker Runs His Hits to 3,000

Tris Speaker, manager of the Cleveland Indians, is a member of the 3,000-hit circle. He gained the distinction, achieved by only five other major league players, at a recent St. Louis game, when he singled in the ninth inning.

Speaker made his hits in 8,623 times at bat, an average of .348 in 2,341 games. They included 646 doubles, 204 triples and 91 home runs, for 4,336 bases. He needs only six more doubles to beat the record of 651 held by Nap Lajoie.

Others who have gathered 3,000 hits are Ty Cobb, Lajoie, Anson, Hans Wagner and Sam Crawford.

Big Job for Paschal

Benny Paschal was the regular center fielder for the New York Yankees with "Babe Ruth" out of the game. Benny, as he is known, had a difficult job to live up to the ability of the "Battering Babe," but the fans seem to like his play.

KICKED SELF INTO BIG LEAGUE BERTH

Jimmy Poole, Recalcitrant First Baseman, Lands With Athletics.

It isn't often that a minor league holdout who has brought down the scorn of his club, on whom the books have been closed so far as his salary demands are considered, is rewarded with a promotion. More often such a player is placed on the suspended list and then is required to make his peace at the figure quoted by the club.

But Jimmy Poole, recalcitrant first baseman of the Portland club of the Pacific Coast league, goes down as the 1925 exception. Jimmy, on the eve of being placed on the suspended list, became a member of the Philadelphia Athletics, taking the place of Joe Hauser, hard-hitting first baseman of the Macks, who suffered a broken kneecap.

What is more, Poole is a mighty valuable addition to the Philadelphia team. He can hit—yes, lustily—can throw, and his record with Portland just about rates him as one of the best picks-ups Mack could have made at this time of dire emergency. With Portland last season Poole hit .353 in 182 games and led that strong class AA organization in home runs with 38. He also smacked seven triples and 47 doubles, rather a nifty conglomerate of extra base drives to say the least. As a fielder he turned in an average of .983.

Poole was born May 12, 1885, and was first heard of with Newman in 1914. Then there came a stretch of time he was out of O. B. and in 1917 he was awarded to Charleston. In 1918 he bobbed up with Richmond and that club sold him to San Antonio in 1920. The Chicago Sox gave him a whirl as it that fall and turned him over to Salt Lake in 1921. He was recalled and placed with Richmond and later in 1921 sold to Portland, where he remained until this spring when he kicked on his contract. It was also asserted that he didn't want to play in the West, preferring the East.

Most Championships Won by Teams From the East

When it comes to winning pennants, the eastern major league cities have a decided advantage over their distant neighbors on the western swings of the two circuits.

In the National league, Boston has won 13 flags and New York has won 12. Chicago has taken 11, Brooklyn 5, Pittsburgh 4, Philadelphia 2, and Cincinnati 1. St. Louis has yet to place in the pennant column.

The old Baltimore club won three times, while Providence landed in the first place twice and Detroit once. But those championships hark back so far that most fans have forgotten them.

Honors in the American league are more evenly divided. Philadelphia and Boston lead with six flags each; Chicago is third with five; Detroit and New York have taken three each, and Washington and Cleveland have finished first once.
